

I am concerned about the FCC's proposal to eliminate FM translators. I receive K-Love over these translators and listen to these stations daily in my local community and around the country when I travel. The loss to the community of this service would be harmful in my view. K-Love offers a family friendly listening environment not found on any other radio stations. Without K-Love I would no longer be interested in radio use at all and our community would miss out on this vital national connection to family programming and issues. This service is one of the last modes of entertainment and information which I can trust will not offend me or corrupt my children. Please find a way to maintain this service and allow it to expand to areas it may not have reached yet.
